

Sandwatch?

Sandwatch/EcoWarriors, The Seychelles

Sandwatch is...

Sandwatch is a global volunteer network of schools, students, teachers and principals, youth groups, non-governmental and community-based organizations working together to monitor and enhance their beach environments. The network is coordinated by the Sandwatch Foundation, a non-profit organization.

Sandwatch does...

Sandwatch presents an opportunity for people and ecosystems to respond to climate variability and climate change. Beaches are among the ecosystems at risk as they face rising sea levels and changes in storms and extreme events. Through Sandwatch, people can contribute to building ecosystem resilience and adapting to climate change.

The Sandwatch Foundation

The Sandwatch Foundation coordinates the network of schools and community groups who actively monitor changes in their beach environments, evaluate the problems and conflicts, and take action to address beach issues.

Sandwatch was recognized by UNESCO in 2014, at the end of the United Nations Decade on Education for Sustainable Development, as one of the 25 most successful projects from around the world.